

This new drama takes us back to the unsettling financial world of the mid 1980s. The mastermind of an upstart investment firm has just landed on the cover of Time Magazine. Declaring that “debt is an asset” has propelled him to dizzying heights while disrupting the American economy. He endeavors to take over an American manufacturing company, changing the rules as he goes and trying to re-shape the world. With his brilliance matched only by his financial swagger, he sets in motion nothing less than a financial civil war, pitting magnates against workers, lawyers against journalists and, ultimately, everyone against themselves.

This fast-paced thriller is about how, while most of us weren't watching, money became the only thing of value.

Written by Pulitzer Prize winner Ayad Akhtar (Disgraced) and directed by Tony Award® winner Doug Hughes (Doubt), JUNK stars Steven Pasquale (The Bridges of Madison County, TV's “Rescue Me”).
