

HISTORY CALLED IT HEROISM.
THEY CALLED IT HIGH SCHOOL.

This spellbinding true story is the account of the Little Rock Nine, the first black students to attend their city's formerly segregated central high school. What began as their search for a better education soon became a national crisis, arousing the passions of a divided country and generating a historic fight for justice in the Jim Crow south. As the Civil Rights movement was evolving, a changing world watched as these children from Arkansas fought for their rights with only a book and pencil.

Both disturbing and hopeful, LITTLE ROCK brings to life the Nine's untold personal stories of challenge and resilience, invoking memories of America not so long ago. From writer and director Rajendra Ramoon Maharaj, this stirring play honors the bravery of these young heroes and asks audiences: Would you have had the courage?

SHEEN CENTER

18 Bleecker Street (at the corner of Bleecker & Elizabeth)
(between 2 main streets: Lafayette & Bowery)
New York, NY 10012

Groups 10+

Opened June 14, 2018

Limited Engagement through September 8, 2018

Running Time: 2 hours, 15 minutes

Note: Strong language. Not suitable for children under 13.

GreatWhiteWay.com

(212) 757-9117 | (888) 517-0112