

The NAP

A New Comedy Thriller

In its British premiere, The Guardian raved, “Ingenious,” The Observer cheered, “Outrageously funny,” and The Daily Mail declared “brilliant and terrifically inventive.” Manhattan Theatre Club now brings us the American premiere of this new play written by Richard Bean, the author of the hilarious award-winning comedy, One Man, Two Guvnors. THE NAP is a humorous look at the world of snooker—the British version of pool.

It centers on a fast-rising young star who arrives for a championship tournament only to be confronted by the authorities warning him of the consequences of match fixing. Before he knows it, he is forced into devious dealings with a cast of wildly colorful characters, including his ex-convict dad, saucy mum, quick-tongued manager and a notorious gangster, to boot.

Tony Award® winner Daniel Sullivan (Proof) directs this fast-paced comedy thriller where, in an exciting twist, the tournament unfolds live on stage.
