EDWARD ALBEE'S
WHO'S AFRAID OF
VIRGINIA WOOLF?

directed by Joe Mantello

Multiple Tony Award® and Emmy® Award winner and Oscar nominee Laurie Metcalf (A Doll's House, Part 2; Three Tall Women; "Roseanne;" "Lady Bird") and Golden Globe nominee Rupert Everett ("An Ideal Husband;" "My Best Friend's Wedding") star in Edward Albee's landmark searing drama. Joining them are British actor Russell Tovey (A View from the Bridge; The History Boys) and 2019 Olivier Award winner Patsy Ferran (Summer and Smoke).

WHO'S AFRAID OF VIRGINIA WOOLF? examines the intricacies of the disintegrating marriage of George and Martha, a middle-aged couple. It takes place over the course of an intoxicating night on a New England college campus when, after a faculty party, they are joined by a younger couple...and the warfare begins.

Two-time Tony winner Joe Mantello (Assassins; Take Me Out) directs this provocative portrait of marital commitment and conflict, which was the recipient of multiple 1963 Tony Awards, including Best Play.
