

GEORGE
CLOONEY
IN
GOOD NIGHT, AND GOOD LUCK.
ON BROADWAY

WE WILL NOT WALK IN FEAR, ONE OF ANOTHER

In a landmark theatrical event, two-time Academy Award® winner George Clooney makes his Broadway debut as American journalist Edward R. Murrow in a powerful stage adaptation of the Oscar-nominated critically acclaimed film of the same name.

Tune in to the golden age of broadcast journalism and Murrow's legendary, history-altering, on-air showdown with Senator Joseph McCarthy. As McCarthyism casts a shadow over America, Murrow and his team at CBS choose to confront the rising tide of paranoia and propaganda, even if it means turning the federal government and a worried nation against them.

Tony Award®-winner David Cromer (The Band's Visit) directs a cast of over 20 in this gripping drama, written by original screenwriters Clooney and Grant Heslov, which chronicles a time in American history when truth and journalistic integrity stood up to fearmongering and disinformation - and won.

Groups 10+

Previews begin March 12, 2025

Opening Night April 3, 2025

Recommended for ages 13+

Running Time: 1 hour, 40 minutes, with no intermission

Limited Engagement through June 8, 2025

Note: Herbal cigarettes are used on stage.

Winter Garden Theatre
1634 Broadway
(bet. W. 50th & 51st Streets
New York, NY 10019

GreatWhiteWay.com

(212) 757-9117 | (888) 517-0112